

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY

ON CAMPUS

LOUISVILLE SEMINARY
DMIN DEGREE SNAPSHOT

The Doctor of Ministry program strives to reflect the Church's vocation to bear witness to the grace of the triune God as shown in Jesus Christ, and continues Louisville Seminary's long history of reaching across cultural, racial, and religious divides. The DMin program strengthens the connection between theology and ministry practice in the Church or in fields closely related to the mission and witness of the church, while fostering the spiritual and professional growth of participants. Core professors work with experienced practitioners to build face-to-face communities of learning in which students study cutting-edge theological, biblical, and practical bases of ministry; share collective wisdom, curiosity, and experience; and complete a Research Project that informs and enhances their current ministry.

An advanced, professional degree, the DMin program is for experienced practitioners who have a Master of Divinity degree (or equivalent) from an ATS-accredited school; a 3.0 GPA or higher; a minimum of three years post-Div ministry experience or five years consistent professional ministry experience prior to application.

The program is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSSOC) and the Association of Theological Schools (ATS).
